SIERRA MADRE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1928

R. W. Stewart Commander 18th District

Local Man Chosen at State Convention of the Legion

Will be Member of State
Executive Committee
Two Years

Ralph W. Stewart, Robert Steinberger and Harvey Steinberger returned last Friday from Stockton where they attended the state convention of the American Legion. They brought home the news that Mr. Stewart had been elected commander of the 18th District of California.

The 18th District is one of the three largest districts in the state organization. It includes sixteen posts and covers the territory from South Pasadena and Pasadena to the east county line, including Pomona and Claremont. There are about 3,000 members in the district.

District commanders are elected for a two-year term by the district delegation at the state convention. The commander is a member of the state executive committee during that time, half of the twenty-two members being chosen each alternate year.

In the 18th District are some of the leading Legion posts of the country, Pasadena and Monrovia ranking among the top-notchers of the country on point ratings, while South Pasadena and Pasadena drum corps have won many prizes. Half of the posts are housed in their own buildings, whereas few districts show more than 25 per cent so provided.

Mr. Stewart was a charter member of Sierra Madre Post No. 297. He was its commander in 1926 and has served as vice commander of the county council. He is now chairman of the finance committee of the county organization.

The following appeared in an editorial in the American Legion Weekly Bulletin recently regarding his work: "For the first time in its history the Los Angeles county council will end the year with quite a surplus, unless something unforeseen happens. Ralph Stewart, who has acted so ably as finance officer this year, reports that there will be more than $600 in the treasury when he hands over the finances to his successor.

"That is a record of which any finance officer in the past would have been proud, for the county council has led a more or less hand-to-mouth existence ever since its organization. It has never had the funds to use that it should have had and in times past assessments have been levied against the posts and various other means used when funds were needed. All with only partial success. Let us hope that in the future we can keep up the pace set this year and that the council will be able to work with increasing efficiency with the start that Mr. Stewart is giving it this year."

Dr. and Mrs. W. Jarvis Barlow have returned to their home at 675 West Highland after an extensive eastern trip, having visited in Cleveland, New York, Boston and the Adirondacks. They were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Ella Brooks Barlow.

Announcement was made of the marriage of their only son, Walter Jarvis Barlow, Jr., to Miss Mathilde Odile Wilhelm, the ceremony taking place in Paris, France, July 23. Mr. Barlow met Miss Wilhelm in Washington, D. C., two years ago. They sailed on July 25 aboard the France and after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Long Severance at Upper Saranac, have taken an apartment in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Barlow expects to take an examination for the American foreign service. Mr. and Mrs. Barlow hope to pass some time in California later in the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hooker Jones and their nephew, Frank A. Spencer, arrived home yesterday from a cross country tour. Mr. and Mrs. Jones went east by rail and have been spending the summer in New England. Mr. Spencer joined them recently, to accompany them home, driving their new Pierce Arrow sedan. With the exception of a terrific thunder storm which caused them to halt earlier than expected for one night's stop in eastern Iowa, they report excellent luck as to highways and weather on the way west.

Red Cross Meeting Next Monday Open To Chapter Friends

All meetings of the local chapter of the American Red Cross are open to the public. The regular meeting of the board of directors will take place next Monday afternoon at 4:30 in the council chamber of the city hall. W. R. Humphries, chairman, extends a cordial invitation to everyone interested to attend.

The annual membership drive will begin early in November. A beginning has already been made on plans and members of the chapter and their friends are urged to come out and help in the work of making the roll call a success.

Local Man Is a Former Band Leader

F. D. Card Shows the Boys
a Few Tricks on the Big Bass Horn

Seventeen members reported for band rehearsal last Monday night, and the new organization "got in some good licks" toward the concert to be given in the city park September 21. F. E. Card, proprietor of the Square Deal Lunch, "sat in" for the first time, and the way he made the big horn "talk" was a revelation to the other members, who were not acquainted with the fact that Mr. Card was formerly a famous band leader in the Middle West. In his younger days he "trooped" with circus bands, and circus band men have got to know their parsley, so to speak.

Roy Edwards, clarinet player, is also a new member. Roy is a member of the Elks Band, of Pasadena, and bolstered up the reed section materially. Roy Keown, trumpet, has returned from his vacation, and will report regularly from now on. He is a trumpeter. Emanuel Silberman is "sitting in" with E. H. Keegan, Jr., as snare drummer. C. B. Scott, Gas Co. manager, baseball manager, and ex-band manager, has promised to drag his old snare drum out of its obscurity and help the band during the concert. He has had many years of experience and will be of great assistance to the local band. His son plays a melophone, and will also assist in the concert.

Seliwyn Myers rates as the youngest member of the band. He plays a French horn, and is getting along splendidly. Several other youngsters are expected to "join up" soon, and Director Auer states that any boy or girl in the community who desires to play a band or orchestra instrument is invited to become a member.

Clarinet, trombone and alto sections still need bolstering up with additional members. LeRoy McBurney is "first chair" clarinetist (when his brother, Howard, is not present) and is doing a splendid job. Linden Murray is a youngster who is improving his opportunities to practice and is holding up his place in good shape.

Sierra Madre has a splendid opportunity to obtain a fine little band of a permanent type if the citizens here care enough about it to offer support and encouragement. Outsiders should know that band rehearsals are matters of tedious routine, interspersed at times with concerts and other public appearances. If the members are willing to put in long hours of rehearsal in order that the band can appear in a concert covering a period of an hour and a few added minutes, the public ought to be willing to cooperate in any way possible. The band has several instruments left over from a previous regime, but a few new instruments are needed. The director can not be expected to put in valuable time without remuneration. And music costs money.

No one is going to be asked for a thin dime until the concert. After that, don't be surprised if the band officials try to raise a fund to carry the band on thru the winter and the coming summer. By that time it ought to be standing on its own feet, so to speak.

After the rehearsal Monday night the members were served delicious punch and cookies, by Misses Mildred and Marguerite Auer, sisters of the director. "A nice time was had by all."

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Carpenter have returned from their vacation trip to Seattle and way points. They covered 3160 miles on the jaunt and enjoyed a most delightful outing.

Will Discuss Sierra Madre School Issue

Central Committee Meets on Monday Night to Consider Problem

Committee to Be Appointed to Confer With Pasadena Officials

According to George Hapgood, committee member, the Central committee, composed of two representatives from the various organizations in the city, will meet Monday night for the purpose of delving into the school question confronting the taxpayers and parents of this city. Every angle of the matter will be thoroughly discussed and it is asserted that a committee will be appointed to confer with the Pasadena school board at the earliest date possible.

School matters have been occupying considerable attention in local club and business circles for several months past, but no definite steps have been taken. At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce a committee was appointed to cooperate with any committee that might be named looking toward a solution of the problem, but was not authorized by the board to take the initiative.

An announcement of a public meeting called for Wednesday night at the city hall was made at the band concert last night, but following the announcement that the Central Committee was about to act, this meeting was postponed until such time as the Central Committee calls a meeting to discuss the facts and findings publicly.

The Pasadena school officials seem to be having plenty of difficulties of their own to iron out at the present time, but it is believed they will give a courteous hearing to local citizens, and aid in any possible manner.

Finger-print Expert Here For Address

Man Who Identified Hickman
In Los Angeles Case to Make Address

Echoes of the Hickman identification case, for a time one of the most vexing problems that had ever confronted the Los Angeles police department, will be brought to mind with the announcement that Sergeant Barlow, of the L. A. police department and nationally known finger-print expert, will appear on the park concert series on the night of November 2, in company with other officers from the department, the famous Police Quartet, and Nick Harris, internationally known detective.

Chief E. H. Keegan, who has had an active part in all of the concerts this season, is working a "lone hand" in arranging the "Police Dept. Night" and is certainly performing a noteworthy feat. In addition to the speakers announced in the News last Friday, and Sgt. Barlow, Chief Keegan states that Mr. Harris will bring "Bob and Monte," radio entertainers from KFI, to assist on the program.

Sergt. Shoemaker who will be pleasantly remembered as having a prominent part in the program last year, will have a new series of "safety first" pictures. Lieut. Comb, head of the bureau of public safety, will be an honor guest. Chief Keegan and the members of the park entertainment committee are planning a dinner for the visitors and among the guests will be numbered officials of the Monrovia and Arcadia police departments.

It is possible that the local band will have a part in the evening's program, and the event as a whole is certain to strike a high note in educational and entertainment value.

Bob Webster and Claire Langleg write the News from Vancouver, B. C., that they have been having a wonderful time in continuing their motor wanderings through Washington into British Columbia. From there they planned to drive inland and visit Yellowstone National Park before starting on the homeward leg of their journey.

R. E. Steinberger Joins Santa Ana Ford Distributor

Robert E. Steinberger will leave on Saturday for Santa Ana where he will take a responsible position with George Dunton, Ford distributor for the city of Santa Ana. He will be in charge of the service department and will have in charge the servicing of all the new Model A Fords. The Dunton agency is one of the most important in the Ford organization and occupies a three-story building.

For the past three years Mr. Steinberger has been associated with his brother, J. Milton Steinberger, in the local Ford agency. Prior to that time he spent several years in Santa Ana with a large ice cream maker and distributor. For that reason Mr. and Mrs. Steinberger will feel much at home in Santa Ana, as well as because Mrs. Steinberger's mother resides there.

Owing to the near approach of the annual election of officers of the Legion post, Mr. Steinberger will not resign his post as commander. He will serve out his term and come up to Sierra Madre for the few meetings remaining in his year.

Long Ballot At Primary On Tuesday

Many Candidates to Be Voted On for Partisan and Judicial Offices

Approach of next Tuesday's primary election does not seem to be accompanied by any great degree of excitement. This is probably due to the extreme degree of harmony prevailing in Republican ranks in the effort to put up a solid front for Hoover.

Party candidates will be nominated for United States Senator, congressman, state senator in the 35th district, and assemblyman in the 69th district. Non-partisan candidates for district attorney and a host of judicial positions will be chosen. Many of these have no opposition and will be elected at the primaries.

Two propositions appear on the ballot. One is the $1,000,000 county bond issue to provide a site for a state building in Los Angeles. State funds for the building are already available when the site is provided, as has been done in San Francisco and Sacramento. The other proposition would give war veterans a 10 per cent preferential rating in Civil service tests.

While the ballot is rather lengthy, it is not nearly so long as the November ballot will be. With all parties combined on that one ballot and a long list of propositions to be voted on, the fall ballot will be something to cause grief to election officials and confusion to voters.

Six polling places will be in operation next Tuesday to accommodate the rush of voters who wish to exercise their prerogatives as free-born American citizens. The county registrar of voters notified the city clerk to prepare for the casting of ballots at the following places:

Precinct 1—Showroom at 37 W. Central Avenue; Precinct 2—Laidlaw residence, 83 North Sunnyside; Precinct 3—Park House, Central and Hermosa; Precinct 4—Walsworth residence, 20 South Baldwin; Precinct 5—Store room, N. E. corner of Mountain Trail and Sturtevant Road; Precinct 6—Cabinet Shop, 148 North Mountain Trail Avenue.

Old Friends Drop In On News Man

George W. MacDonnell of the bureau of special events, Pacific Southwest Exposition, was in the city Tuesday, calling attention to the fact that Sierra Madre Day friends. Mrs. MacDonnell, who will be in the city on Saturday, Sept. 2. Mr. MacDonnell was accompanied by Mrs. MacDonnell.

The MacDonnells and Joe Eastwood are old friends, having been associated with rival newspapers back in South Dakota, and they enjoyed a lengthy chat concerning old friends.

The American Legion Fair, to be held at Covina Sept. 23-29 is holding forth every promise of a splendid success. Continuous vaudeville entertainment is being arranged, in addition to the usual fair features.

Central Ave. Owners Will Meet Tonite

Improvement Project Calls
For Organization of Taxpayers

Details of Construction to
Be Taken up for Discussion

Types of pavement, width of right of way, illumination plans and other details will be taken up for discussion at a meeting of Central Avenue property owners to be held this evening in the Sierra Madre city hall.

The meeting is expected to result in the formation of a permanent organization to keep in touch with the progress of the Central Avenue opening and improvement project. Many of the property owners feel that they are the people chiefly concerned and should have some means of expressing their desires as a group.

At a preliminary meeting held Wednesday night temporary plans were agreed upon by representatives of various sections of the street. The meeting will be called to order by J. O. Smith as temporary chairman and Mrs. Jessica Wright will act as temporary secretary. Permanent officers will be chosen by those present.

"This organization is not proposed for the purpose of putting over any particular program," said one of those active in calling the meeting. "So far as I am concerned it is merely an attempt to get this whole thing out in the open and let people know the merits of the various paving materials, lighting standards and construction plans."

Outlook for Local Team Held Good

New Ball Grounds Provide Adequate Setting for Pastime

Sierra Madre's new hard ball team will start off with a number of stars of real magnitude, according to Manager C. B. Scott, who will guide the local entry in the San Gabriel Valley League this winter. Lefty Miller, who has played successfully with the Pasadena Merchants; Bob Kinney, also a southpaw and a former star at Manual Arts high; and Jim Heasley will have turns on the mound, according to the present dope. Minor Harkness, a short stop with much professional experience; "Doc" Elk, also a former Mid-West league player; Frank Foster, well known college athlete, and Bill Olsen, who played with Cal Tech's fast outfit, and the famous Smith Brothers of Sierra Madre, comprise the pick of the material that has so far showed up for work on the local diamond.

The league will open its schedule October 1st and Manager Scott hopes to have his charges synchronizing perfectly by that time. An opportunity will be given local merchants to help by furnishing uniforms to the teams and several suits have already been promised.

The soft-ball season will close with two more games to be played on the local lot—Monrovia Civic tonight on the new grounds at Baldwin and Suffolk, and the Monrovia Gassers vs. Sierra Madre Monday night, at the same place. The games will be called at 5:30 and the local enthusiasts urge a large attendance.

Ralph Stewart, Oswald Bergien and the firm of Hapgood and Carlson "ganged up" last Wednesday to show W. M. Stewart, father of Ralph Stewart and who recently arrived for a visit here, the best way to catch fish, out in the Pacific ocean. Mr. Carlson proved the "champion angler" with a string of 22 barracuda, while Mr. Hapgood brought up the rear with four. The others had catches of 14, 17 and 18, which indicates a splendid day's sport.

Mrs. Cecil Kellogg entertained a number of friends at tea Wednesday afternoon at her home, 77 East Montecito Avenue. The affair was by way of farewell inasmuch as the Kelloggs expect to remove soon to Porterville where Mr. Kellogg is in business and is completing a new home.

Beach Campaign To Be Fostered By Local Group

To promote the movement to "Save the Beaches," a local committee will be formed in connection with the current events section meeting in the Woman's Club house next Wednesday afternoon. The necessity of preserving for public use as much as possible of the ocean frontage is an aim which appeals strongly to many club women and others. The subject was discussed briefly at the last session and will be taken up again next Wednesday, according to Mrs. W. J. Lawless, the chairman.

Warden Says Fire Danger Is at Worst

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk by County Official on Prevention

Jess Graves, assistant county fire warden, was the speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis luncheon. He was introduced by George Norris, program chairman for the day. In a brief but pointed speech, Mr. Graves told of the work now being done by the county to protect the mountains against fire.

While county jurisdiction only includes that land outside of incorporated cities and federal forest reserves, Mr. Graves said there is close cooperation between government and municipal fire-fighting agencies to combat grass, brush and timber fires wherever they originate.

During the past week, for instance, the Angeles Reserve has been largely stripped of rangers and its regular federal organization, who were concentrated at the Cajon Pass fire. In the meantime the entire county organization was on edge and awaiting call with men and equipment to step in wherever needed. This measure of cooperation is in marked contrast to the jealousies and lack of cooperation which existed up to the time of the big fire of 1925.

As long as human beings are careless, or wilfully violate the law, there will be a fire danger hanging over those communities near the mountains, and threatening to denude the watersheds. Mr. Graves urged every citizen to do his part to carry on the work of education in fire prevention. This would include such personal conduct as observance of smoking regulations, and the condition in which one's home property is kept.

In response to questions, Mr. Graves said it is a violation of the law to smoke in restricted areas, even inside an automobile when the car is standing still. The only places where smoking is permissible are at designated public camps and at places of habitation.

All Kiwanians are expected to take part in an oratorical contest, according to an announcement by President Tasker Webster and District Trustee Ray Grant. Beginning next week, the local contest will be carried on with two-minute talks given by five members chosen by lot. This will be continued at each meeting until all the club members have been heard and a choice made. The winner will represent the club in the district contest.

Another Version Of the Upsetting Of That Rowboat

Who rocked the boat and why? is a question that seems to be involved in the incident related in last week's News concerning a rowing party on Newport Bay.

Sam Addis and Ira Marsh who were rowing the boat which was upset with Al Belohlavek and Herb Munson, are convinced that they were the near victims of a suicidal mania on the part of their companions. Ira said they had noticed signs of morbid despondence on the part of the popular mail man and his mechanic friend and it was in an effort to life them out of such a frame of mind that he and Sam accompanied them to the beach. Sam declared he and Ira were particularly sorry to see such fine young fellows weighed down with family cares and both believe that Herb and Al included them in the party in an effort to discourage them against ever falling in love or getting married.

Chairs for the bandmen were furnished by W. B. Temple of the C. F. Lamb Company, a courtesy which has also been accorded on each of the occasions when bands have appeared here.

And the delicious ham for the sandwiches was supplied by the Gibbs Market, as a donation to the park concerts.

Triumph for Scout Band In Concert

Organization Far Ahead of the Average Juvenile Performers

Memoli Shows a Marvelous
Technique in Training
Young Charges

The Los Angeles Boy Scout Band lived up to the splendid reputation which preceded it, in the splendid concert given last night in the city park. In precision, dynamics, attack—in fact, in every way the band answered every demand made by Director Phillip Memoli. The fact that many of the boys apparently were no more than Scout-entrance age, seemingly had little to do with the affair; they all handled themselves like veterans and every section showed the effects of remarkable training. With a professional organization to deal with, a skillful director should be expected to get similar results, but it requires a technique in psychology that is rare indeed to get such marvelous results from a group of high-spirited boys. The concert was a fine success in every respect.

Chairman W. R. Humphries introduced R. B. DeGroot to the audience, who told of the origin of the band, when his own vision was permitted to become a reality through the generosity of the late Arthur Letts. Liberal provision having been made for equipment, the band had been fortunate in securing as leader Mr. Phillip Memoli, Sr., "a thorough musician and a splendid gentleman." He not only inspired the boys to fine musicianship, said Mr. DeGroot, but to real manhood.

Back of this band is the Los Angeles district council of the Boy Scouts of America, the greatest boy organization in the world. Mr. DeGroot then told of the aim of that organization, of which he is Los Angeles executive and a recognized leader. The boy is usually under complete guidance and domination of women in his earlier years. His mother and his school teacher are the biggest factors in his life. At the point when he wakes up to the fact that he "can never become a woman, he is in a frame of mind to imitate some man." Here Scouting comes in to supply guidance and interests which will shape his life in the right direction, cause him to choose naturally the right type of man for his pattern.

Every Scout troop is sponsored by a committee of men. This job of fostering a troop and acting as Scoutmaster is one calling for the highest type of men and motives, declared Mr. DeGroot. The men who undertake it deserve hearty support. The cost of Scouting is low, but it does cost some money. Next week the local committee will call on the community for a few hundred dollars to support Scouting in Sierra Madre. Mr. DeGroot urged the public to be generous in their response and to see that henceforth Scouting is supported on a proper plane in Sierra Madre. He pledged his own cooperation in good counsel and a return visit to help with community entertainments like that of last night.

Following the concert the visitors were treated to a delicious spread in the park house. The most luscious cakes imaginable, and plenty of them, sandwiches and punch in quantities that withstood the assaults of both visitors and local Scouts just about made it the end of a perfect day. The spread was in charge of Mrs. Senour, Mrs. Charles W. Collins, Mrs. Roy Edwards, Mrs. Art Evans, Mrs. H. E. Allen, Mrs. Somner, and Art Evans and several members of his troop.

Chairs for the bandmen were furnished by W. B. Temple of the C. F. Lamb Company, a courtesy which has also been accorded on each of the occasions when bands have appeared here.

And the delicious ham for the sandwiches was supplied by the Gibbs Market, as a donation to the park concerts.

Miss Maxine Russell arrived home last night from a two months tour which completely circled the country. With a party of relatives she made the trip by rail to New Orleans, then took a steamer tour of the Caribbean Sea, West Indies and up the Atlantic Coast to New York. The party came home by the northern route and visited a number of the national parks.

Helped Put Dueling In The Discard

Republican Editor Conducted Successful Newspaper in
'Solid South'

Knoxville, Tenn. — Capt. Wm. Rule, for more than fifty years editor of the Knoxville Journal, died here July 26 following an operation for appendicitis.

Capt. Rule, a republican and former officer in the Union army, who for more than half a century edited a newspaper in the democratic South, first attracted nationwide attention in 1873, when he refused to fight a duel, characterizing such a method of settling disputes as "heathenish" and "cowardly."

Shortly after his newspaper had published a criticism of two institutions of which Major Moses J. Wicks of Memphis was the head, Captain Rule received an order to retract his statements. This he refused to do, but advised the major the columns of his paper were open to any statement Wicks might care to make.

Whereupon Major Wicks wrote Captain Rule, asking him to meet him at Dalton, Ga. Instead of doing this, the editor on the date named in the note for the meeting published in his paper a letter he had sent to the major. This step generally is believed to have had a great influence in discrediting dueling in the South.

"With such an affair I refuse to have any connection," he wrote. "I recognize no heathenish, so-called code of honor. I am opposed to dueling for the reason that it is contrary to the spirit of the enlightened age in which we live. I am opposed to it because it is contrary to the laws of my country, the law of humanity, and the law of God."

"You might take my life or I might take yours, and yet not a single feature of the publication complained of would be changed by the results. If that publication were false, it would be false still; if it were true, it would remain true; hence nothing could be gained by either of us losing his life in the manner proposed.

"I do not purpose to leave the country, but will continue to pursue my legitimate business, going wherever and whenever that business calls me. While I do not recognize the so-called code of honor, I wish you to distinctly understand that I recognize the right of self-defense. I do not court, but on the contrary avoid, personal difficulties with my fellows, but when attacked I shall not hesitate to defend myself as promptly and efficiently as necessity may seem to require."

"You ask me to fight a duel for what? Because I made statements about you concerning the truth of which I can prove and the falsity of which you do not offer to show. I do not purpose to pander the barbarous prejudices of depraved minds by setting myself up as a target to give you the opportunity of a so-called vindication in accordance with your ideas of honor and courage. Words cannot express my contempt for such folly. It is not proof of courage, but of cowardice. It is not evidence of manliness, but of a weak conception of heathenish and brutal customs. It is not the way to defend a gentleman's honor, but a practical confession of his inability to defend it in the manner prescribed by an enlightened Christian public sentiment and the laws of civilized people."

Wicks issued a statement in which he said he left the editor to such a place in the "public esteem or contempt as a just and enlightened people may condescend him."

The result was Captain Rule received letters from all sections of the country commending him, editors of the nation upheld him, the federal grand jury praised him, and at the next session of the Tennessee legislature a law was passed against dueling.

Captain Rule was born in a log cabin seven miles from Knoxville, Mal 10, 1839, but lived most of his life in the city.

In Central-Southern California electricity is particularly cheap, because Edison partners are California people, glad to share their profits with their neighbors. When "Edison" builds a great steam power plant at Long Beach to make sure its customers will never

News Notes from Here and There

Within the next few months, Walnut Park, an unincorporated town near Huntington Park, will have its first school building.

The American Legion Fair, to be held at Covina Sept. 23-29 is holding forth every promise of a splendid success. Continuous vaudeville entertainment is being arranged, in addition to the usual fair features.

Mrs. Anita Baldwin apparently has won her contention that an 80-foot boulevard thru her estate on the Foothill Boulevard will be adequate. A 100-foot project was blocked by Mrs. Baldwin. According to the present plans an 80-foot roadway will be constructed from Lamanda Park to Santa Anita Drive, with trees on each side, the plan to plant trees in the center of the driveway having been abandoned, it is asserted.

Water is being pumped in some sections of Orange county from below sea level, according to officials of Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company. The fact is expected to spur a movement to conserve the flood waters of the Santa Ana River. Engineers say that if the lowering of the basin reserve continues the wells in the beach district will be menaced by salt water seepage.

Production in the Signal Hill oil field continues to sag and experts believe the field has started on its normal decline.

Involving an expenditure of $2,450,000, numerous improvements in the way of additional equipment, additional power and safety devices have been made by the Pacific Electric Railway during the past year. New ball-bearing equipped local cars, track renewals and the requirement of 24 motor coaches, are among the expenditures noted. D. W. Pontius, vice president and general manager, states that for the most part the new facilities added during the current year are designed to speed up service and provide additional comfort for patrons of the road.

Airplanes of almost every type, powered by motors from the plants of practically every engine builder of both Europe and America, will participate in the various events of the national air races at Mines Field, September 8 to 16. Four hundred planes will take part in the spectacular air parade to be staged as an opening feature, on September 8.

Orange county's twelfth annual fair is about ready for its opening on Labor Day. The dates are Sept. 3-8, inclusive. Among the fair features are Junior Fair, women's department, auto show, industrial exhibits, poultry, rabbit and dog show, day and night rodeo, running races, horse show, both day and night; great livestock display, feature exhibits, bands, vaudeville, amusements of various kinds, etc.

When Richard Wells, Buffalo, was about to be arrested by a policeman he effected a very neat escape by jumping into the rear of a passing delivery wagon. The wagon turned out to be a Black Maria and it delivered him to the police station. He was fined $50 for intoxication.

Installment buying of automobiles has spread to Great Britain. One automobile agency manager said recently that at least 55 per cent of his sales were conducted on this plan.

Weekly passes at $1.25, entitling the holder to as many rides as he wishes during that period are being featured by the Chicago elevated railway.

A small army of judges, 60 in number, will be required to judge the immense quantity of entries in the 7th Los Angeles County Fair to open at Pomona September 18 and continue thru Sunday, Sept. 23. Over 2000 prize awards and $75,000 in cash and trophy awards will be distributed.

The situation appears to sift down to this, that either one of the great parties can sweep the country if it stands shoulder to shoulder and works harmoniously, and that neither will stand and work in the manner indicated.—Ohio State Journal.

At last this country is approaching naval parity. Although Great Britain has cruisers with such awe-inspiring names as Intrepid and Dauntless, Uncle Sam is building a 10,000 ton cruiser to be named Chicago.—Chicago Daily News.

The serious thing about this campaign of education is that a whole lot of other people have got to be fooled, in addition to the customary farmers.—Ohio State Journal.

The Powers of the world have abolished war, little more than ten years after the United States abolished liquor.—Tampa Tribune.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

IN a business involving $159,000.00 annual expenditures, how closely should the executive head keep to what is going on? Pretty close, if that $159,000 is to be well spent.

During the last fiscal year the city of Sierra Madre spent $159,407.55, in addition to bond redemption and interest. This was all paid out on vouchers properly audited by heads of departments and council members. Everything was regular and all that.

As shown heretofore, the executive authority of the city is pretty thoroughly divided, or subdivided. In auditing the bills for this $159,000, how close can the council members get to the actual facts involved? They meet at least twice monthly to consider city business, and they devote a good deal of time and effort between sessions, all unremunerated, to city business. But under the present plan of organization they cannot get the efficiency of operation that would be demanded in a private business of the same magnitude.

Take the engineering department, for instance. The clerk's report shows $2,687.45 expended. Is this the total of engineering expense, or did the work chargeable to special projects bring the total to three times that amount, as reported?

Engineering expense on special improvement work does not affect the tax rate. But the bills are passed upon by the council, which is the executive authority of the city.

The Gierlich brothers, holding the posts of city engineer and special engineer on the Central Avenue project, are fine men and highly regarded in their profession. But the present discussion indicates that our plan of government not only does not require, it does not even permit them to operate the engineering department in a way to do justice to themselves and to the city.

More about engineering next week. In the meantime, discuss it with your councilmen and see how closely they are in touch with engineering work.

STATE BUILDING NEEDED

SAN FRANCISCO and Sacramento have splendid state office buildings, housing the various state offices maintained in those cities. Los Angeles has many state offices, but they are housed in rented quarters which are widely scattered.

In San Francisco and Sacramento the sites of the state buildings were donated by the counties in which they are located. There are state funds available for the erection of a state building in Los Angeles whenever the county provides the site.

On the primary ballot next Tuesday there is a proposal for a county bond issue of $1,000,000 to provide a site for the state building. The purpose is to make it a part of the civic center where the city and county offices are being concentrated. That is the logical place for all such public business.

If you wonder how many state departments are maintained in Los Angeles now, just look in the telephone directory under "California State Offices." Some of these are widely scattered involving a great waste of time on the part of those who have much state business to transact. A creditable state building as a part of the civic center would be a fine addition to what will ultimately be a notable group.

Vote yes on the state building bond issue.

A TIMELY SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

SCHOOL matters in Sierra Madre are in for an airing next Wednesday night, when a meeting of interested citizens will be held in the council chambers. Much discussion has been engendered over the situation during the last few months, especially since the removal of the seventh and eighth grade students to Pasadena, a procedure seemingly made advisable by the completion of the Woodrow Wilson junior high school. There is no doubt but the school matter needs a thorough discussion. If, in the light of all the facts, the formation of a new policy seems necessary for our welfare, it should be done. If, on the other hand, the situation as it stands at present is found to be most advantageous, that fact should be known. At any rate the matter should be settled satisfactorily for some time to come as a result of bringing the present agitation to a head.

THE TRAFFIC MONSTER

WHEN St. Francis Dam collapsed and 400 people lost their lives in a few hours the country was horror-stricken. All Southern California poured out sympathy and contributed to the relief fund.

Since the St. Francis dam catastrophe nearly twice as many lives have been taken in California from traffic accidents. But there is no particular commotion about it. There is no relief fund and there is no talk of holding anybody to account for the condition.

Every year 2,000 lives are lost in California through automobile accidents, 500 every three months. It is calculated that one car in every sixteen traversing the highways is annually involved in an accident in which someone is killed or injured. Isn't it up to every driver to take a little more care than seems necessary in keeping down this terrible toll?

SMITH AND WHITE

WONDER what Governor Smith was thinking about all the time he was accepting the nomination up there in the New York state assembly chamber. He read a carefully prepared speech, so he had plenty of time to think of other things. One of them was probably a feeling of supreme gratitude that William Allen White was not there to plague him with his record of Tammany voting when he was sitting in that hall as a legislator. His acceptance speech can best be interpreted in the light of his explanation of White's exposure of his votes on the control of liquor, gambling and all evils. To him, the East Side of New York city speaks the voice of the people, while the demands of the rest of the country represent merely "political pressure." The governor complains that White paints him black, but he furnishes the color himself.

SUNDAY JUNKETING

"DRIVING along the boulevard on the way to Sierra Madre, I concluded there were several people in Southern California who did not intend going to church this morning," said a visiting minister recently. "But when I contemplate the cool comfort of this beautiful building with its masonry walls, perfect ventilation and easy seats, I marvel at the crowds who are making a vain search for comfort."

Checking up the cost in effort and the rewards in pleasure of certain kinds of Sunday outings brings to mind certain human characteristics to which Barnum made pointed allusion.

THE SANTA ANITA HIGHWAY

WHILE the county authorities are making their survey of a highway route through the Big Santa Anita, why not consider an outlet by way of Sierra Madre? Use of the Big Santa Anita dam road has been generally assumed as part of the proposed road. But it is not essential, by any means. The building of a highway from Sierra Madre along the general route of the Sturtevant Trail has been advocated by men thoroughly familiar with the lay of the land. It has never been proven impractical. If there is to be such a highway it would be worth while for Sierra Madre to go after it.

Don't forget to go to the polls and vote next Tuesday. It is only a primary election, but there are some mighty important contests to be decided.

Reservations

By J. R. E.

If anyone in Sierra Madre is laboring under the delusion that the school question is not getting plenty of thought from John Public these days, he is due for the shock of his life. It is seldom a group or street corner—that the subject of more and better schools for Sierra Madre is not brought up, and it appears that about 80 per cent of the sentiment favors immediate development of the situation into tangible, effective action. "I know a family who left town the other day on account of the schools," is one of the most common remarks. (And by the way, J.R.E. would like to have a list of families who have removed to other localities in order to be closer to the schools.)

Many old-timers have an idea that it is useless to try to put over a school-bond issue at this time. They put forth gloomy statements concerning the last time the issue was up, and the burden of their lament is "It can't be done."

That sort of spirit never won a battle, either in war or in peace.

Another percentage (a small percentage, it is true) think that Pasadena schools are the ultima Thule of all that is desirable in education. And if that is to be accepted as a fact, we might as well call off the fight, close the schools and send all of the children over to our neighboring community.

However, there is a growing sentiment that perhaps, after all, the value of palatial edifices, expensive lawns, nickel-plated curriculums and hot and cold running door knobs has been overstressed. Boys and girls educated in the smaller schools seem to be dominating the classes in college, and the business world as well. Practically all of the names famous in modern history are names of men and women educated in what may be termed rural schools—at least the fundamentals were gained there. The self-reliance, the necessity for doing their own thinking, the close contacts with their teachers and their fellow-students perhaps helped more than the number of times they might have learned to chin themselves on the horizontal bar had their schools been equipped with hundred-thousand-dollar gymnasiums.

And that brings up a tender point. The larger schools are largely class-dominated. In other words, the son or daughter of a wealthy or influential parent usually gets the athletic and scholarship plums. It is human nature for teachers to favor them.

In the larger schools there are eleven places to be filled on the football team. The eleven regulars get just that much splendid training in self-confidence and leadership. Figure out the chances of the local youths against the hundreds of boys from Pasadena.

And how much spirit can the local students acquire in trying to support the Pasadena organizations? Just about the same kind of support local merchants should be expected to give the Pasadena chamber of commerce. If we expect to develop any school and civic spirit in Sierra Madre we will have to have the schools to start with. And it is from the sixth grade on that training along this line is most fruitful of good results.

There ought to be definite action on school matters soon, and to many folks it appears to be about time.

The appearance of the L. A. Boy Scout Band last night has

Grateful for the first year

THIS week we have completed our first year in Sierra Madre. It has been a most delightful year for several reasons—business has been good, surprisingly so—but especially for the friendships we have formed and for the pleasant relations which have existed throughout the year.

done more to stimulate the youthful enthusiasm along band lines than anything that has happened here in a long time. Sad, indeed is the youthful life without an opportunity at some time or another to play in the village band.

The writer remembers when the famous Elks Band of Watertown, S. D., started. It was composed almost entirely of boys between the ages of 12 and 17. Under the direction of W. S. Peck, the band developed into an organization known thruout the nation as one of the best amateur bands in America, a reputation it still holds. But the old timers can tell some extremely interesting stories of happenings in the early days, and there is no question but the band made plenty of history in the city and surrounding community. Several of the members later joined famous professional organizations, Barnum & Bailey's circus band, Sousa's Band, and others.

The kids in this community have a golden opportunity at the present time to learn to play their favorite instrument and if boys, or their parents wish to consult members of the band in regard to rehearsals or the purchase of instruments they will be given all the assistance possible.

A down-town lawyer of questionable reputation has just had his client examined by alienists to determine his normalcy in order that the prosecution may not charge that the defendant committed a revolting crime while under the influence of abnormal excitement. The next thing the defense attorney will try to do, in all probability, will be to prove this his client is not guilty by reason of insanity.

That is one of the vicious developments of modern law. If a person can be convicted of insanity, he is usually acquitted of criminal intent and may later be released to again prey upon society. On the other hand, a sane person, who might normally be capable of reforming and becoming a useful citizen, is usually put to death. Of the two, the insane type seems the greater menace to society—but the very best sort of a client for a shyster lawyer.

Interesting News Notes from Sierra Madre Canyon

At the special meeting of the Canyon Improvement Association held in the club house Thursday evening J. M. Campbell, president of the chamber of commerce, and City Trustee Al Myers were present. The meeting was called for the purpose of familiarizing all canyon residents with the present status of the swimming pool and roads.

A letter from City Attorney Baker presented to the city trustees at a former meeting, reporting on the paving of the canyon roads under the Mattoon Act and the re-establishment of the pool under the Municipal Improvement District Act of 1927, was read by the secretary after which the meeting was thrown open for discussion of the two projects. The discussion brought up the question of deciding on the paving of main roads only, or including trails in the project. It was agreed that this decision would be necessary before definite steps for paving could be taken.

A member of the organization was appointed to acquire at the earliest possible date the petition now being prepared by the city attorney and city engineer for the special pool bond election to be held in the canyon, in order that the work of the pool program might not be delayed. The next regular meeting of the association will be held in the club house on September 6th at 7:30 p. m.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Virgin of Pasadena entertained a family group at the home of Mrs. Ella A. Cadmus. A picnic supper was served to the guests in the out-of-door court under the live oaks at Cadmus Villa. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Royce, Mrs. Jennie Virgin of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Virgin and their children, Edwin, LaVerne, Helen and Jack. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Capps and son of Monterey Park, Mrs. Ella A. Cadmus and Miss Laura E. Cadmus. Mr. and Mrs. Virgin left on the following day for San Francisco and surrounding cities where Mr. Virgin will be engaged in advancing the work of John E. Brown, prominent evangelist.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gamble entertained a party of Los Angeles friends at a picnic luncheon at their cottage, "Cozy Nest." The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Allen Black and children, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beard, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bower, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Newman and niece.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gamble spent Thursday and Friday at La Jolla visiting friends. On Friday they lunched at Agua Caliente in Tia Juana.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Anderson were guests at a birthday dinner in Long Beach on Sunday evening, given in honor of Mrs. Anderson's sister, Mrs. Myrtle Held.

News was brought to the canyon a few days ago that Jack Ransom, son of Mrs. A. M. Scott and a former resident, joined the aviation corps of the U. S. Marines in San Diego last week.

Friends of Miss Dorothea Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Cox, will be pleased to learn that she is slowly recovering from a serious illness. Miss Dorothea has been confined to her home for several weeks with bronchial pneumonia.

Miss Laura E. Cadmus was a luncheon guest of Mrs. George Waldvogel at the Virginia Country Club in Long Beach on Tuesday. The luncheon was given in honor of Miss Helen B. Court-right who is leaving on Saturday for a year's stay in Honolulu. Favors and table decorations were in the Hawaiian motif. The occasion was a delightful one for the guests, all of whom had at some time visited the islands.

Tuesday night guests of Mrs. Laura M. Cline at the Hollywood Bowl concert were Mmes. Gillette, DeVille, S. Petzel, Lorraine Petzel and Alice Corum. On the way to Hollywood the party visited Griffith Park to view the ferns in Woodwardia Canyon, after which a picnic supper was served at the Basket Lunch adjoining the Bowl.

On Monday night Mrs. Laura M. Cline had as her guests for dinner at "El Contento" Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Elmore of Pasadena and Miss Clara Sykes.

Mrs. Laura M. Cline and Mrs. Agnes W. Leighton will visit the surgical ward and the blind boys in ward number 11 at the Veterans Hospital in Sawtelle on Friday, continuing the work of the Woman's Club during the summer. They will take with them ice cream, cake and cookies.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Lynch and children of Los Angeles, are guests in Forrest cottage for two weeks. Their friends, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Pancoast, have taken the adjoining cottage, "Sunshine," for the same length of time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robertson and daughters, Jean and Peggy, and Miss Polly Beach of Gardena are occupying Miss Minerva Boatright's cottage on Brookside Lane for a week during which time Miss Boatright will visit friends in Long Beach and Los Angeles.

On Wednesday morning Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thompson left via the Southern Pacific for Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas for a visit with friends and relatives. From there they will go to Oklahoma and Kansas, returning home by the northern route over the Union Pacific about November first. During their absence "Ak-sar-ben" the canyon home of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McLean of Long Beach. Mr. McLean is a brother of Mrs. Thompson.

E. S. Hancock and family of Long Beach are spending a week in Linger Long cottage on Woodland Drive.

C. O. Beeks and daughter, Mrs. Gladys Sohn, and granddaughter, Virginia Sohn, of Long Beach, have rented "Quaker Inn" on Brookside Lane for two weeks. Charles F. Gilmore and S. Petzel are engaged in enlarging the home of J. T. Railsback on Central Ave.

Mrs. F. A. Strock of Sacramento is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hawk for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Harris and family of Long Beach are enjoying a short vacation at their cottage "Home" on Woodland Drive.

Mrs. Dora King returned to the canyon on Friday after a two month's absence spent in Greeley, Colorado. Mrs. King has rented an apartment in Mrs. Alma Haas' Mt. View Lodge and expects to remain for a number of months.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCord of Los Angeles spent Tuesday with Mr. McCord's mother, Mrs. L. E. Wheeler.

Mrs. A. Steffins of Redwood City was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marion Jones over the weekend. Mrs. Steffins and Mrs. Jones are sisters.

Mr. Percy Randolph of Brookside Lane was laid to rest Thursday at Mountain View Mausoleum, Pasadena, having passed away a week ago at Angelus Hospital, Los Angeles, of tetanus poisoning, caused from a saw cut. He leaves a widow, Laura Randolph, and step-son, Roy Chapman, of San Jose, California.

MARBELITE DURABILITY

Marbelite Lighting Standards are the Ultimate in Strength, Durability and Economy!

DO NOT CONFUSE Marbelite with concrete products made by other processes. Like most other superior products, various attempts have been made to imitate it, but impartial investigation reveals that Marbelite is still the ultimate.

Marbelite engineers have developed many improved methods not available to other manufacturers. The processes they have evolved are scientifically correct and always controlled by supervision, inspection, engineering and laboratory tests. The name Marbelite is a guarantee of the very highest quality attainable.

How Marbelite is Made

In the manufacture of Marbelite an unusually rich mixture, consisting principally of selected cement, sand and granite, is used. These materials are very carefully measured and mixed, then poured into aluminum moulds which are whirled at a rapid speed. This process, known as the Centrifugal Process, causes the mixture to pack with extreme density against the inside of the mould. The result is a new material so much stronger, harder and denser than concrete that the two cannot be compared.

Imbedded in every Marbelite standard is a reinforcing, consisting of a welded cage of steel rods, which greatly increases the strength of the standard.

covered this for themselves, with the result that Marbelite is painting, which means a saving over a period of years which will equal or exceed the original cost. Many cities have discovered this for themselves, with the result that Marbelite is increasing in popularity by leaps and bounds. With first costs equal or lower, and with maintenance costs practically nothing, there can be no question that Marbelite is the most economic standard available.

Remember, always, that street illumination is a necessity—not a luxury. Then why not use the standard that combines the maximum of beauty in design and material with the greatest economy?

From the Old News Files

TWENTY YEARS AGO

"The best we have seen anywhere" was the verdict of a committee of Alhambra citizens who visited the new Sierra Madre school building in search of ideas for a new building of their own. Louis A. Greata, well known landscape architect, gave the city some good advice on making the most of natural beauties of the landscape, and particularly on the need of street tree planting. J. J. Bergien purchased four lots in the Hastings subdivision. Phil Carter brought a 125-pound buck down from the Quarter-way house. S. R. G. Twycross negotiated the sale of the Dilworth place on Carter Avenue to F. P. Conard of Santa Barbara.

TEN YEARS AGO

W. H. Holabird, food administrator, announced the installation of a card system to ensure equitable local distribution of sugar supplies. Letters from Robert Clark and Raymond Adelmeyer indicated that the Sierra Madre boys with the 117th Engineers took active part in the heavy fighting in France.

REST TIME AT HEALTH

Learning to rest is an important part of the Health School program. Irritable, nervous children need regular daytime rest as much as they do their regular meals.

Health School children are not asked "Won't you take a nap?" But a cot and blanket in a cool, shaded room are given each child with the suggestion that resting is simply another part of the game of "gaining and growing" which they are playing.

Happy incentives surround the child which keep his interest keen in resting while the pounds are accumulating. Stars on the sleep chart or a colored feather in the Indian doll's cap for every sleep hour spurs on the smallest ones. Others have "boats a-boatng," from Sleepy Hollow to Treasure Island as their sleep hours send the boats along. Danger Rocks catch the boats of the non-sleepers. Fun in the sleep game soon merges into true enjoyment of the rest.

The children learn how to rest in the most healthful positions. "Long and flat" are exchanged for the undesirable curved sleep posture. Corrective pads are used under shoulders and stomachs as the need may be. Good citizenship habits are practiced in keeping quiet while others rest; caring for cot and blanket, and hanging up clothes in orderly fashion on the small clothes hangers made in handicraft hour.

Valuable health lessons are learned through happy associations whether with a group or by oneself. A child is never sent to bed at Health School as punishment. The wise teacher knows that so essential a health habit as resting should not be associated with unpleasantness. A child should like his bed.

Nothing can so help diminish the number of tired children of school age as well planned rest periods during the school day. Problem children are very often fatigued children who need rest.

Arcadia is satisfied with its immediate supply and source of water and has no desire to connect with Pasadena or any other water district, according to a message conveyed to Pasadena officials at the request of the Arcadia city council.

Claremont citizens are agitating the question of a swimming pool in which the children of that city may disport themselves during the hot summer months.

Claremont Episcopal Church has a unique out-door theatre almost completed. The Claremont Courier states "the theatre started on nothing and now it has developed to the point where it will be one of the assets of the church." It will have adequate lighting and seating capacity and many plans are being made looking toward its frequent use.

Campaign managers who have been emblazoning the names of their political favorites on billboards have been notified to suspend their activities in that direction by the Arcadia city council.

State Bldg. Bond Issue Is Endorsed

Need of Saving Beaches for Public Use Urged on Club Women

Mr. Chas. Diggs, secretary of the regional planning commission, successor to Hugh Pomeroy, was the interesting speaker to whom the current events-public welfare section of the Woman's Club had the privilege of listening on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Diggs was associated with the Bartholemew group in their planning of Chicago, Washington, D. C., Minneapolis and many other large eastern cities in connection with their parks and landscape gardening.

His informal talk centered around the state parks and several other issues on the state ballot, pointing out the difference between county, state and national parks. Mr. Diggs made a strong plea for the protection of our beaches in Southern California, which he designates as our parks. Northern California has had a slogan for the past fifteen years: "Save the Redwoods." We in the southern end of the state should have had a slogan: "Save the beaches," and acted on it years ago. Immediate action in this direction is necessary.

Mr. Diggs called attention to the fact that the north already has three million dollars at hand to match the three million on the ballot which is their share, to assist in carrying out in a material way their slogan, and urges that we in the south match our three million with three million at once, as our beaches are rapidly becoming private property, only seven miles now being available to the public, truly a critical situation.

Mrs. W. J. Lawless, chairman of the section, stated in this connection that there are five state parks in northern California: Big Basin, Richardson Grove, Mount Diablo and two smaller ones. She compared our San Jacinto to Mt. Diablo and suggested it as worthy of acquisition for a state park in Southern California.

The great need for a centralization of state buildings was pointed out by Mr. Diggs, as it seems very desirable that city, county and state business be located in one center. Los Angeles hopes to have a civic center, and the board of supervisors and city council have officially adopted the area between Main and Hill, First and Sunset streets as such. Many pertinent questions, Boulder Dam, "Excess Condemnation," and other issues were touched upon by Mr. Diggs, as well as several of purely local interest.

It is the aim of the section, Mrs. Lawless states, to continue an analysis and round-table discussion of the issues on the state ballot for the next five meetings. Mrs. John Osgood of our city planning commission gave a short and comprehensive report of the work of that organization towards beautifying Sierra Madre by a systematic planting of trees on the various streets, a plan for each street being definitely worked out. She also discussed the proposed open air theater in the city park.

Dr. Gilbert S. Bovard will speak to the section next Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. on "County Hospital Construction."

Tea and a social hour closed the session.—Mrs. J. H. Robertson, press chairman.

Music Section Takes Up Plans For Coming Year

Members of the Woman's Club, as well as prospective members, who may be interested in the forming of a music section will hold a meeting next Wednesday night to consider plans for the club year. It is the desire of the club officers to allow the section members to choose their own lines of activity. Program material, music study and choral work have been suggested, and will be included in the discussion. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. George B. Morgridge, 19 West Live Oak Ave.

Evans Says Outlook Is Of Rosy Hue

State Senator Expects to Be Renominated at the Primaries

State Senator H. J. Evans of Monrovia was calling on Sierra Madre friends Thursday and reported prospects excellent for his renomination as republican candidate to succeed himself. Speaking of arguments which have been brought up in the course of the campaign Senator Evans said:

"The only criticism the opposition has been able to make on my actions during the past two sessions of the legislature have been my vote on the district water bill of 1925 and the six-state Colorado River pact with reservations.

"The district bill of 1925 was so pernicious it was opposed by every representative but two from Los Angeles county. At the 1927 session when presented in amended form it was passed without opposition.

"When the question of the six-state pact arose, certain reservations were presented. The governor presented a telegram from Secretary Herbert Hoover advising against the reservations and stating that in his opinion these reservations would delay legislative action at least two years. Over three years have passed and the Boulder Dam bill has not become law. I have no apology to make for my vote on these two measures, feeling that I acted in the interest of all the people. I am and always have been in favor of Boulder Dam."

Comedy Riot Coming Week At Wistaria

"Two Flaming Youths," the new Paramount comedy being shown tonight and Saturday at the Wistaria theatre brings to the fore another team of farceurs that promises to rival the popularity of Wallace Beery, Raymond Hatton and other comedy pairs popular among theatre fans. The talents of W. C. Fields and Chester Conklin have been merged and the result of this amalgamation of farce ability has won considerable praise in other cities of the country, where "Two Flaming Youths" has been seen.

London's most sensational dancing act, The Tiller Girls, appear in a gorgeous night club sequence in Syd Chaplin's latest starring vehicle, "Skirts," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming Sunday and Monday.

Believe it or not, all the tricks of magic you'll see in "Lady Be Good" were performed without the use of camera deception. Jack Mulhall plays the role of a vaudeville magician in the First National picture which comes Tuesday and Wednesday.

Boy Scout Nite!

We all surely enjoyed the wonderful entertainment given by the Boy Scouts. The drive to obtain a few hundred dollars which, I understand, is to be made by the Central Service Committee starts in a day or so. Four bits from a few of us will do the trick and the results the money will give will repay the community four-fold. Boys will be boys and the proper guidance at the start of their careers will make their future secure.

Messrs. Douglas S. Murphy and A. R. Markham have purchased the cafe formerly operated in the hotel building at 28 North Baldwin Avenue. Their first step was to close the place to business for a thorough overhauling, renovating and redecorating.

Sunday, August 26, has been set as the date for opening and the proprietors promise that the place will be new from the name on the front window to the linoleum on the kitchen floor. "Sierra Madre Cafe" is the new name, and they promise to operate an establishment which will be a credit to the name. Special menus are announced for the opening day.

Both proprietors are experienced in cafe and restaurant work. Mr. Markham will be the chef, a position he has occupied in many high class cafes in Southern California. Mr. Murphy is a dining room expert, having been in charge of the dining room at the Mission Inn, Riverside, and other

Paul W. Kenney, candidate for assemblyman from the 69th District, was in the city Monday, visiting friends and forming new acquaintances in behalf of his candidacy. Mr. Kenney has a comprehensive platform looking toward the betterment and enforcement of existing laws, especially as regards labor laws governing women and children. He advocates the employment of American citizens only on all public work, full support to Boulder Dam project, modification of school laws to conform to modern needs, old age pension as a matter of sound humanitarian and economic policy, and other problems.

Mr. Kenney is a graduate of Toronto University and is widely acquainted throughout the district.
